

Erik resides in Berwyn with his wife and three young children. He is running for Township Supervisor to preserve the community that he, his family, and neighbors love. It is his goal to ensure that our community planning and development is in accord with our community's values and that transparency and communication is maintained between the community and its Board of Supervisors whenever development proposals are made.

Erik is an attorney and managing partner at a small local firm and has more than 13 years of legal experience and expertise. As an attorney, he has fought for the rights of the mentally disabled, assisted clients with various property development, land use, and zoning issues, and has zealously advocated for his clients every step of the way. His knowledge, expertise, and experience have adequately prepared him to serve as Easttown Township Supervisor and he is eager to utilize those skills on behalf of our community.

When he's not running his law practice, Erik enjoys spending time with his family, teaching his children how to cook, and jogging around Berwyn or on the Chester Valley Trail.
